

News Release

National Wildlife Refuge System

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

William J. Jones (302) 684-8419

An Evening at the Hook features Horseshoe Crabs – Things You Might Just Find Interesting

The lecture series, “An Evening at the Hook”, continues its 10th anniversary celebration with “Horseshoe Crabs – Things You Might Just Find Interesting” on Thursday, May 9, 2013, at 7:00 PM. Hosted by Glenn Gauvry, Executive Director of Ecological Research & Development Group, this presentation will allow you to discover Delaware’s State Marine Animal – the HORSESHOE CRAB. Featuring hands-on material and information about the life history and ecological importance of the horseshoe crab to the Delaware Estuary, this presentation will give new meaning to your next walk along Delaware’s beaches. Join us before the lecture at 6:30 p.m. for light refreshments.

Celebrating its 10th anniversary, “An Evening at the Hook” is a lecture series that highlights this nation’s abundant and diverse natural resources, particularly close to home at Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuge. Featured on the second Thursday of every month at 7:00pm in the Refuge Auditorium, these hour-long programs provide an exciting opportunity to learn intriguing facts about our plants, animals, environment, and cultural history. The lectures are free, open to the public, and fun for the entire family. Seating is limited on a first-come, first-serve basis. Please call the Refuge at (302) 684-8419 for more information.

The mission of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is working with others to conserve, protect and enhance fish, wildlife, plants and their habitats for the continuing benefit of the American people. We are both a leader and trusted partner in fish and wildlife conservation, known for our scientific excellence, stewardship of lands and natural resources, dedicated professionals and commitment to public service. For more information on our work and the people who make it happen, visit www.fws.gov.

XXX

April 24, 2013